APWA NEWS

LETTER TO MEMBERSHIP

Dear APWA Missouri Chapter Members,

What does APWA National have to offer?

I am sure everyone reading this has at one time wondered what benefit APWA National provides to me. Our Missouri Chapter is very active and over the years, most of us have gotten to know each other well and have become great friends. However, sometimes our involvement in APWA stops at the chapter boundary. Our Missouri Chapter has a ton to offer our members and for many people that completely satisfies their interest in the organization. There is nothing wrong with that and it is a testament to the great value our chapter provides. Having been your chapter delegate for 5 years, I have seen and witnessed just how great the APWA organization is as a national leader in the public works field. I want to share with you some thoughts on how you can benefit more fully from what APWA National has to offer. PWX is definitely one of the big items that speaks for itself but I want to go beyond that. First, APWA National provides a wealth of educational opportunities that are underutilized and most of these are at no cost. A simple look at the APWA website you will find Click, Listen and Learn webinars that you can participate in live or watch later. These are always relevant topics as are the Talking Top Tech Webinars. Everything can be found on the APWATV YouTube Channel. Back in the day, the St. Louis Branch used to host the C,L&L sessions monthly but now that they are free, it is easy to do it on your own.

Second, APWA National advocates heavily for our public works industry at the national level. The Washington, DC office works on our behalf to encourage lawmakers to support positive legislation for our industry. Through their efforts, we have had APWA presidents and leaders testify before congress and DC office staff works hard to maintain good communication with senator and representative staffers. At the spring, 2022 conference Chris Linneman and I gave a short presentation on advocacy at the chapter level. Chapter activities can differ from the National activities but our message to local government leaders is patterned off what National has laid out. The APWA National Government Affairs Committee is a great resource for ideas on how we can advocate by being the voice of public works to government leaders and the media. When we advocate for our industry to whatever level of government, we are fulfilling part of our chapter and national strategic plans and National offers many ways to support this.

Third, APWA National provides many opportunities for members to grow as leaders in their field. I recall back in 2016 when I attended my first Mid Am Conference planning committee meeting which I had recently agreed to serve on. Another member of the committee asked me what I thought of it and my response was that I was overwhelmed with the quality of people I was surrounded by. I have found that to be the case in every situation I have been involved with in my duties at the National as your delegate to the Council of Chapters. There are 63 chapter across the country and Canada and there are many great leaders. Getting to know these people and being around them has provided great professional growth for me. Although there are only a few positions to be a delegate or alternate delegate, everyone has an opportunity to serve on a National committee or participate in leadership training such as the Emerging Leaders Academy. There are over 30 standing and program committees and technical committees that you can be nominated for or self-nominate. Nominations are closed now but will open in the fall. The Emerging Leaders Academy, however, is accepting applications until June 28th for the 2023-2024 session. The program is meant for up and coming leaders that have been in the public works field for ten years or less. Information on that program can be found on the APWA website. Our chapter has had several members go through this program and in fact, our chapter offers a $500 professional stipend to anyone selected for the program.

What I have laid out here for you really just touches the surface of what APWA National has to offer for us as members. The best way for you to find out more is to simply check out the website. I will be the first to admit that I do not utilize the opportunities as much as I should. However, they are there for us when we are ready to use them.

I'll leave you with one last thing.....APWA National has a lot to offer and the more you explore those opportunities, the more you will benefit personally and professionally. We all have a role in making our communities or companies better. Being a part of APWA and growing as leaders benefits all of us collectively. Being better individuals in APWA makes everyone around us better resulting in a great team of public works professionals working together to see our communities thrive. APWA National plays a vital role in helping us to succeed in this mission. Check it and find a place for you to participate. You will not be disappointed.

Thank you,

Eric Landwehr
Missouri Chapter Delegate to the Council of Chapters

Make Federal-Aid Local Project Delivery Easier—Swap Federal Funds

Local Agency Federal-Aid Project implementation is a high risk for FHWA and state DOTs, due to complex federal requirements and local governments' lack of experience with them. Many local agencies forego federal funds due to the high risk, increased delivery time, and complexity involved. The Federal Fund Swap process can allow local governments to follow their normal project delivery processes and eliminate most of the risks involved with federal funds for all government agencies. 11:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. ET | 10:00 a.m. – 11:30 a.m. CT | 9:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m. MT | 8:00 a.m. – 9:30 a.m. PT
